NZQA Unit Standards

Our courses are assessed against NZQA Unit Standards 6400, 6401 and 6402. These unit standards can be added to your Record of Learning if you provide us with your NZQA number.

If you are not registered with NZQA but would like to have a Record of Learning there is a fee to hook you on to the NZQA framework. We can advise you on whom to contact to do this.

Bookings

Individuals

Simply choose a date from our timetable that suits you and contact us either by email or phone to make your booking. Please book early to avoid disappointment.

Groups

We also offer flexible group bookings. This option is convenient if you prefer a course held at your premises, during evenings, weekends or just a date that suits you better than our scheduled courses. We can also tailor courses to your needs. Courses can be held at your premises but we also have a venue available for use. Group bookings require a minimum of 10 attendees.

Our Goals

Trained community members are essential when it comes to successfully handling emergencies and saving lives and as an organisation we are further committed to promoting pertinent health education. The concept behind our courses is to break down the barriers and fears that may prevent you from providing assistance in a medical or emergency situation. We focus our teaching on real life scenarios to help attendees develop the skills and confidence to respond in an emergency situation as well as to anticipate and prevent accidents from occurring.

Company History

We have been providing quality First Aid courses to the community and business since 2004. Our parent company, MediTrain Ltd, has been operating since 1991. Using their publishing company, SkillsforLife Ltd, MediTrain have created and published all their own training material, including manuals and visual material.
